

Thomas Johns
Director, Wingate

Thomas Johns is a Melbourne-based property finance and risk professional specialising in real estate credit, investment analysis, and portfolio management at Wingate. He commenced his career in the restructuring and turnaround area of Westpac, completing further studies relating to insolvency law and professional practice in this time. His journey then saw him transition to institutional and mid-market real estate credit and origination across multiple Australian cities. As a senior private credit specialist, he oversees a team of analysts in deal structuring, assessment and ongoing transaction management.
